

hello

I am Nauris Cinovics and in my career as an Art Director I have managed and implemented various international and local design projects.

I lit up for the development of logos and full-scale visual identities, which also includes the development of websites, but nothing beats the development of packaging designs. It is a non-realistic, mystical feeling, which begins with the development of concept, continues with the layout and design, until it is realized as a tangible result.

Some works can be seen in this portfolio.

SandMar cosmetics are vegan, organic and based on natural cosmetics.

The logo combines the letters S and M and a crown, which symbolizes that nature is the heart of these products.

The minimalist logo with texts also explain what this product combines and what it stands for. This brand story continues with the development of a unique website design.

A new packaging design has been developed - labels and boxes, developed in accordance with the existing product range, logo, GMT brand and the company's target audience.

The new packaging is based on the "natura concept", which includes "body" and "face" lines. The packaging is designed for both professional use - salons ("pro") and daily use - at home ("home").

DR. NIGMA

Nigma Talib, ND is a naturopathic practitioner with clinics in London and Los Angeles.

The dotted part is like a neural symbol that accentuates the packaging of the new facial products. Silver and black colors have been researched to be the most suitable for science, clinic and including technology (innovation, novelty, uniqueness).

Dr. Nigma Serum N°1 is a high performance elixir that improves the condition of the skin using clinically studied plant stem cells. The product contains hyaluronic acid and marine snail peptide, which promotes the delivery and absorption of clinically studied stem cells. Crème N°1 boasts an innovative formula based on a unique and patented light water technology. This concept has also been continued in the exclusive development of the website.
